ShrinkWrap™ creates disk images to ensure exact disk copies that work the same as originals.

What is a disk image?

Ever tried to make a copy of an install disk, only to find out it won't work? Many applications need the "original" CD or floppy to run or access information – copies simply don't work. This is because disks copied by dragging icons or other standard copying methods don't make identical byte-for-byte copies. ShrinkWrap does. So your disk copies are identical to the originals – and work just as well.

Make disk images to:

- Make exact byte-for-byte disk copies that run as originals
- Keep multiple disks mounted without having to swap CDs
- Send disks over the Internet

Disk images are necessary for copying CDs and floppies that need the original media to run.

When you use ShrinkWrap to make disk images, you make an exact copy of the disk itself. Byte-for-byte, everything is where it should be. So install disks run the way they should. CDs mount. Backup copies work just like they had the original CD or disk.

Creating a disk image is a powerful way to share information, or to keep multiple disks mounted without having to swap CDs in and out of your drive. What's more, ShrinkWrap enables you to copy a disk and send it over the Internet, allowing the recipient to mount the file just like it was any other, normal disk.

ShrinkWrap disk imaging is far superior to DiskCopy.™ It creates significantly smaller disk images 2 to 5 times faster.

Mobile computing solutions for your Palm™

On the Go? GoBar™!

One of the reasons behind the explosion in use of Palm OS handhelds is the powerful capability to take a wealth of information with you, as well as get access anywhere. However, many people find the learning curve of using the Palm daunting; it's like learning a whole new way of computing, and that can be difficult.

Aladdin provides the solution with GoBar, giving your Palm OS device a look and feel you know well. Menus appear and disappear the way you expect. Tap the "Go" button, and quickly navigate to exactly what you want, effortlessly, intuitively. Drill down several layers deep to find exactly what you need. Easily drag and drop your applications to another folder, the Trash, or GoBar's Beam icon. Recent applications, documents, important system info – it's all there, right where you expect it.

GoBar makes the transition from your desktop to your handheld device seamless.

HotTime™, because timing is everything.

Never miss another meeting because the clocks on your Palm device and your desktop back at the office aren't in sync. Here's the problem: you can HotSync your handheld every day if you want, but if the clock on your handheld and the clock on your desktop are even just a few minutes off, you can wind up missing meetings, important calls, even planes. All your hard work to get and stay organized can go right down the tubes if the technology lets you down.

Aladdin's solution to the problem is HotTime. It's simple: every time you HotSync your handheld and your desktop, HotTime synchronizes the clocks as well. So when that important meeting begins at 11:00 on the dot, you're there. Instead of thinking you have five more minutes.

Stay on time every day with HotTime. Even when the appointment you're keeping is a very hot time.
